

Market analysis at 10th World Nephrology Conference

Editorial

The Nephrology market research report states that demand for Nephrologists will likely benefit from healthcare reform. There will be Subsidies for the people having low income, increasing the number of insured patients etc. As the number of insured patients increases, demand increases for all services in medicine especially Nephrology. Additionally, industry demand for treatment of Kidney diseases will be aided by the rising incidence of diabetes as well as the aging people an increase in the number of people living in medical homes, nursing facilities and/or spending time in hospitals is increasing. So, of course will the number of trained professionals staffing them. According to Unites states department of labour, in a study on the Nephrology; there are approximately 20,400 licensed Nephrologists in the United States only. Survey reveals that 25 out of 1000 people are suffering from Kidney Problem. So to compensate this Nephrologists in the market are increasing day by day.

ESRD seems to be a cost-effective strategy. Furthermore, screening of relatives of patients identified by screening enhances this screening strategy.

According to recent statistics report, nearly 14% of total population are suffering from Chronic Kidney Disease complaints and millions of others are at increased risk. The numbers of Kidney transplantations are seemingly very high and in the year of 2016 alone, there are around 121678 kidney transplantations. Due to the rapid increase for the risk of renal disorders, Nephrology Conference (Nephrology 2021) aims to decrease the incidence rate of kidney disease through its Annual Conference on Nephrology & Urology and cordially invites participants across the globe to discuss and arrive under possible solutions for one of the major critical problems of mankind.
